SAN BRUNO ELECTION

2 Challengers Win

San Bruno voters recalled Councilmen Richard Griffith and Theodore Long yesterday, but returned Mayor Neil Christal to office.

Margaret Kozkowski was elected to replace Griffith.

Anthony S. Governale was elected to replace Long.

Voter turnout was heavy.

The controversy involved began with the appointment of City Manager Christopher (Kit) Menkin.

The recall was based on charges that Mayor Neil Christal and Councilmen Ted Long and Dick Griffith appointed Menkin in a pre-arranged method for their own personal gain. They were the three involved in the recall.

Opponents of the recall, however, argued that Menkin is merely the football in a behind-the-scenes political power struggle within the city.

Long has stated that he believes the entire matter is politically motivated by Councilman George Corey.

It was on May 1 that then City Manager Gerard Vergeer sent a personal letter to the councilmen saying it was his intention to retire.

Ads were placed. More than 90 applications came in.

After Menkin was appointed to the $16,000 a year job on July 27 by a 3-2 vote, the situation became heated.

On the one side were Long, Griffith and Christal. On the other were Corey and Councilman Maurice Hamilton. The gist of the argument is that Corey and Hamilton feel the appointment of Menkin was a political deal. The others argue there was nothing mysterious or underhanded about it, that the appointment was made on the basis of good business judgment.

A recently issued White Paper by Corey and Hamilton attempts to give their version of the history of the appointment. And Corey has termed the whole affair "The rottenest political thing I've seen since I've been here."

Six weeks after the appointment, Hamilton said, "There's only one way to resolve it. You (three councilmen who appointed Menkin) get rid of Menkin, or the city of San Bruno gets rid of you."

First signs of outside rebellion came from Planning Commissioner Victor Ogrey. He filed action to have the appointment annulled. It failed. Judge Mel Cohn said, "The political differences are clearly matters for the voters, and not the courts."

Businessman Lance Miller then applied to Councilman (and city postal clerk) Griffith for a post office box in the name of the San Bruno Recall Committee.

Orville Wycoff (later, council candidate) became chairman of the committee. Margaret Kozkowski (also a candidate) was named to head a citizen participation subcommittee.

Anti-recallers responded in November by establishing a No-Recall headquarters.

First petition filings failed. But success was attained in December with 4,216 names against Christal, 4,303 against Long and 4,307 against Griffith. A total of 3,973 was needed in each case.

The recall election was set for March 2, to coincide with the junior college election and save the city some money. Candidates had ten days to file. Twelve residents filed. The three councilmen already had retained a legal firm to attempt to invalidate the petitions and cancel the recall.

Judge Cohn, who earlier had said the matter should be settled by the people, ruled against the injunction. Although City Attorney Joseph Galligan said the issue is dead, Long said the lawsuit concerning purported illegal petition gathering is still very much active.

Another legal action is still in the courts. It is a $125,000 libel suit filed by Long against Wycoff.

In actual breakdown of candidates, there were three filed against Christal, four against Long and five against Griffith.

Mother of 3 Slain in D.C.

The battered body of a mother of three was discovered by police in her blood-splattered Daly City home shortly after 7:30 Monday. She had been shot in the chest.

Arrested and charged with murder was Robert C. Windham, 31, the victim's common-law husband.

Police were called to the scene after receiving a call that Windham, a burly 230 pound, 6-foot 2-inch meatpacker, had gone on a rampage. They said he had smashed furniture, pistol-whipped the victim, Juanita Bouttie, 30, and shot her sister, Helen Nelson in the left wrist.

Mrs. Nelson fled the home at 201 Woodrow Street, on the way out grabbing her sister's three small children playing in a downstairs room. Her screams alerted neighbors who called police.

Officers arriving on he scene heard moans from an upstairs living room and investigated.

Windham, with blood streaming from a stab wound in his left chest, staggered into the living room, prostrated himself next to his wife and attempted to plunge a knife into his chest.

Three policemen — Captain John Walsh, John Cahill and Tom Reese — managed to wrestle the knife away from Windham after a lengthy struggle.

The victim's sister told investigating officer Bob Blazer that Windham had apparently been drinking when he came home last night. An argument developed between Windham and Mrs. Bouttie and the suspect pulled a .32-caliber pistol, police were told.

He fired once at Mrs. Nelson, hitting her in the left wrist, the woman told police.

Investigators could not immediately determine how Windham received the stab wound. The bloodsoaked gun was found near the victim.

A coroner's report indicated the gun had bits of hair and flesh on the barrel and trigger guard.

They surmise the small 5-foot 3-inch, 100-pound woman was beaten with the gun before she was shot once in the chest.

The three children, ages 12, 11 and 9, are by the victim's first husband. They were in a first floor room, according to police.

Windham is reported in satisfactory condition at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City where he was taken under heavy guard for treatment.

More Local Dollars for SSF Schools

Local taxpayers are shouldering 71 per cent of the financial burden to operate South San Francisco Unified District schools and a team of experts has concluded that the district must find even more local money.

A full house of nearly 200 persons heard a special financial report to district trustees Monday from a panel of three experts.

Panel members were James E. Sutton, CTA Bay Section Consultatant to school finances; Joseph W. Smith, associate superintendent; and Dr. George Downing, a private consultant of school finance, of West Point, Calif., panel chairman.

The pre-preliminary budget review was launched as a cooperative venture by the district and the California Teachers Association.

The panel, according to the report, in reviewing revenue sources learned that all state apportionments for the 1970-71 year amounted to less than 20 per cent of the operating revenue. Special federal and state programs provided 1.6 per cent tuition one-half of one per cent and "other" income, such as home owners and business inventory, 7.4 per cent.

Total district taxes amounted to $9,376,701, in contrast to $2,569,664 from the state.

The panel asserted that little cost reduction can be accomplishe without giving major attention to the area of service.

"People costs" and non-personnel costs were studied: "89.2 per cent of the 1970-71 estimated cost is budgeted for the services of people and 10.8 per cent for all non-people related costs," the report pointed out.

It said the pre-preliminary

SMJC Tax Passes

Skyline and Canada Colleges Saved in Vote

The voters approved yesterday's San Mateo Junior College District's plea for retention of a 12-cent tax override, which expires this year, and an additional 11-cents.

The tally, with 189 of 213 precincts reporting: Yes, 76,375; no, 49,961.

A simple majority was required.

Trustees and the administrators, said a defeat would be a major catastrophe for the district.

They predicted that almost 16,000 full-time and part-time students will be unable to attend a junior college in this county if the measure fails. They also say that both Skyline and Canada colleges will be forced to close because of a lack of funds to maintain and staff those institutions.

The campuses of Skyline in San Bruno and Canada in Redwood City were recently constructed at a cost of about $25 million.

In the event of a failure of the tax override, the district had vowed to:

—Revert back to a one-campus system using only the College of San Mateo.

—Close down the night school even at CSM.

—Do away with summer school entirely.

—Cut back the district faculty by nearly a half.

—Strip away 33 of 50 administrators.

Even if the measure passed, the trustees had promised to cut down on administrative costs by 15 per cent.

One of the ways the trustees have decided to reduce those administrative costs is to move the district's office from its present location on Pioneer Court in San Mateo to one of the campuses.

School spokesmen have emphasized throughout the sometimes heated campaign that the 11-cent tax increase would be enough to last the district through the next ten years.

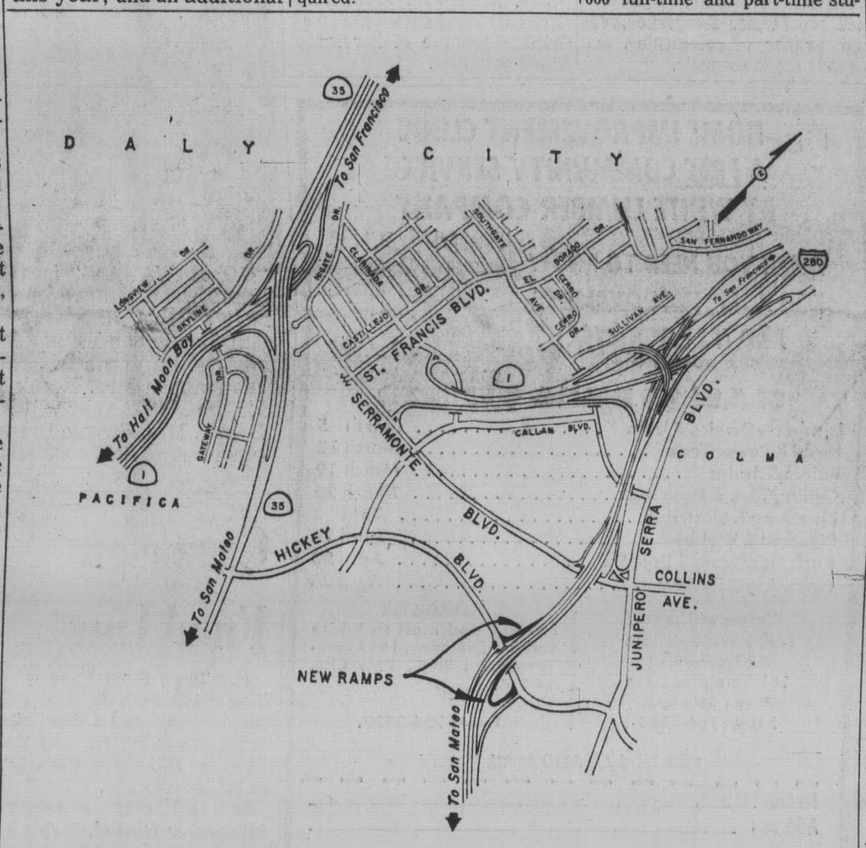

They had promised that they won't come back to the people in the near future to ask for another tax increase.

They had cited time and again the rationale for a yes vote on the measure, using arguments all the way from accreditation and cost per student to the effects on the economic life of the county as a whole.

The opposition had been unorganized, outspoken and, at times, bitterly resentful of being faced with another tax increase, albeit for a cause which has been generally looked upon with favor in the past.

Taxpayers said they are tired of any new attempt to raise their taxes for whatever reason.

They have said this is a chance for them to simply draw the line and say no, loudly and emphatically.

THE DIVISION OF HIGHWAYS announced today that the new Hickey Boulevard ramps on Interstate Route 280, Junipero Serra Freeway in Daly City, will be opened to traffic on Thursday, weather permitting. The new ramps will provide access to Hickey Boulevard from southbound on Junipero Serra Freeway and from Hickey Boulevard to northbound on Junipero Freeway. The opening of these new ramps will give motorists an additional and more direct connection between the Junipero Serra Freeway and Route 35, Skyline Boulevard in this locality. Since the start of construction of the Route 1-35 Interchange last September, traffic desiring to go between these two state highways have had to use a temporary detour via Route 1, (the Cabrillo Freeway), Callan Drive and Hickey Boulevard.

County Police Academy Asked

A police academy for San Mateo County is a necessity, according to Police Chief John R. McDonald Jr., of Redwood City.

In his role as president of the San Mateo County Law Enforcement Association, McDonald has written to the County Board of Supervisors recommending that the county sponsor the establishment of an academy.

"The necessity of a police academy is of the utmost importance to modern-day professional law enforcement," McDonald said

The value of proper training, he added, has been proven by the Police Officers Standards and Training (POST) course at College of San Mateo.

McDonald noted that Stanford Research Institute has been retained by the state POST Commission to study county and regional academies and is due to submit its report soon. The SRI report, McDonald said, should serve as the basis for grants from the California Commission on Criminal Justice and the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to finance construction of an academy in San Mateo County.

The police chief suggested that the county board investigate the possibility of contributing the site and designate a staff member to coordinate planning and handle the grant application. The letter has been referred to County Manager M. D. Tarshes and District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson.

Car Wash Controversy Stirs Again

A car wash built at the corner of Hillside Boulevard and Market streets some three years ago over the vehement protests of area residents is again the subject of controversy in Daly City.

Complaints about the current operating policy of the do-it-yourself car wash were heard by the city council during their study session Monday.

Led by Hillside Homeowners Improvement Association president Jerry Delfino, a contingent of homeowners appeared at the meeting and blamed the car wash for polluting the neighborhood with rubbish and noise, along with erosion of a retaining slope.

One homeowner said the car wash operator turns the lights down at the specified 11 p.m. closing time, but fails to shut off all the power to machinery in the wash. Some customers have been seen washing their cars at 2 a.m. in the morning.

These early morning car washers also turn on their car radios for entertainment while they scrub.

When the wash license was issued citizens poured out with baby carriages and signs to protest.

Certain verbal agreements between the city and initial owner, regarding such things as landscaping, were made.

However, none of the agreements has been kept, the homeowners informed the council.

Mayor Bernard J. Lycett informed city manager David Rowe to contact both the present owner, Mario Caprini, and police chief for information on the situation.

Ecology Team

Lester Clark, head of community development for Pacifica, will speak to members of Ecology Action and other interested residents on the 701 plan, a projected view for Pacifica. The meeting will be held Wednesday, in the Holy Cross Lutheran Church at 8 p.m.

10 Accidents on Stretch of Skyline

A chain of at least 10 accidents between 4:30 and 5:30 Wednesday afternoon on Skyline Boulevard, south of Sharps Park Road, created many snarls, much vehicular damage and slight injury to one man.

San Bruno police said the roadway was wet and fog-shrouded.

According to their reports, the most serious accident occurred when Edward Trantow, 57, of Redwood City, driving a cement truck, attempted to stop for traffic because of another accident.

Police said the truck, going south on Skyline, swerved into the northbound lane, hitting a car driven by Mary Gonzales, 22, of Pacifica. The Gonzales car in turn struck a vehicle driven by Dennis Lyons, 28, also of Pacifica.

Police said the Lyons vehicle was forced over the road embankment and passenger John Simpson, 41, of Pacifica, was pinned under the small foreign car. Lyons rolled the car off Simpson, police said.

Simpson was taken to Mary's Help Hospital where he was treated for facial cuts and a broken nose, then released.

The cement truck meanwhile continued on and rolled over on top of a large truck trailer that was parked on the shoulder of the road in a construction area.

Benefits Outlined

Computer Age Dawning in D.C.

Finance Director John Massen Monday explained to the city council the benefits of changing certain city records to a computer system.

Not only would the complex computers save time, they would cut down considerably on costs of maintaining the city's growing stacks of paperwork.

The computer would be owned by the Vista Grande Cablevision Company and operated under a joint agreement, Massen recommended.

Massen said he had investigated the feasibility of entering into a similar arrangement with the Redwood City computer system, but found it to be more costly.

With the Vista Grande computer, work could be done in City Hall.

On the other hand, Massen's personnel would have to travel to Redwood City to use that computer.

Cost of the Redwood City computer and related services would total some $39,315. Vista Grande's computer would be far below that figure—some $19,200.

The city's two billing machines and one accounting machine now in use need replacing.

Breakdown time on the billing machines is estimated at 40 per cent. The accounting machine has an estimated 20 per cent "down time."

The computer age may soon dawn in Daly City.

Assistant to the City Manager Don Fleming said the city will need another billing machine and at least one more accounting machine—plus personnel to operate them—within the next two-three years.

Cost of a billing machine is roughly $14,500, while an accounting machine runs about $16,000.

So. San Francisco Directs Campaign Fund Ordinance

South San Francisco City Attorney John Noonan Monday was instructed to prepare an ordinance forbidding council candidates from receiving campaign contributions, money or other things of value from licensees, franchisees and public utilities.

The request was made by Robert Albright, president of Citizens for Responsible Government, a city-wide group "dedicated to seeing that South San Francisco is responsible to the needs of all citizens."

Albright had sent a letter to the councilmen, dated February 5, and asked that it be read aloud at the meeting. In it he referred to the recent taxicab-city official incident in San Diego in which officials were charged with accepting cab company contributions, then voting for rate increases.

According to Citizens for Responsible Government, officials who receive such contributions ought to abstain from voting on issues affecting that entity.

Albright said the organization he represented was not politically oriented.

"This letter is not construed as an open indictment," said Albright. "We are simply seeking legislation to clarify a situation that may occur in the future. One that will place officials under a cloud of suspicion."

His letter, however, specifically singled out Mayor Patrick Ahern for receiving free adver-

Panel: SSF Schools Need More Money

budget for 1971-72 estimates expense to be the same as that for 1970-71: 89.2 per cent for services and 10.8 per cent for non-services.

While the panel noted it was not "suggesting by this comparison that cuts in personnel service are advisable, it is emphasizing that should the district need to restrict expenditures for 1971-72 in order to conform to revenue, the only meaningful amounts would have to come from the service area."

Such curtailments should be uniformly distributed if morale ination of entire programs should be avoided," the three experts said.

The district's revenue has not been at the same level as exis to be maintained, the report staged.

"Whenever possible, the elimpenditures since July 1, 1968. The practice, then, of financing the excess from reserves has exhausted the reserves as a source of financing today, it was pointed out.

The district cannot count on more than a nominal increase in assessed valuation income.

The district's general purpose tax rate for 1970-71 of $4.7637 is the 18th lowest of the 20 combined school general purpose tax rates for grades K-12 in San Mateo County.

(Ravenswood has the highest, $6.9919; Portola, $6.2497; Jefferson Elementary and High School Districts, $6.2496.)

Little help can be expected from the state.

The result, until massive additional funds are found, will be the continued assumption of the burden by local taxpayers — unless educational programs are drastically curtailed, the experts explained.

"With a per student assessed valuation below the county wide average at both elementary and high school, and with a comparatively low operating tax rate, the panel concludes that if the South San Francisco Unified School District is to continue to offer educational sesvice at its current level, it must find additional sources of local revenue," the panel said.

"Such an effort would be consistent with surrounding communities," it concluded.

A Controversal Recall Campaign

tal was Wycoff, teacher and assistant dean at Balboa High School in San Francisco.

A second candidate against Christal was Stephen Diamond, a businessman-district manager who said he's the only candidate living east of El Camino. This section, he says, needs a voice on the council.

The third was Roberta Jean Peck, part-time student and teacher at San Francisco State. She said she had a desire to listen to all the people and said she offered a level-headed, nonsense approach to city government.

Filed against Long were Charles R. Hanley Jr., a San Bruno school teacher, Anthony Governale, electronics executive and former council candidate, James Hensel Jr., an airline employe and senior planning commissioner, and Dudley Marshall, towing and auto service owner.

Long has been the target of the most severe criticism from Governale and Marshall, of these four candidates. Both Henley and Hensel in candidacy statements said they abhorred the way Menkin was appointed.

Governale missed being elected last April by approximately 300 votes.

Those trying for Griffith's seat: Mrs. Kozkowski, housewife and chairman of the San Bruno Park School Board, Ruth Harris, secretary, Robert Price, former mayor and unsuccessful candidate last April, Henry Siddall, career serviceman with the Air Force, and Dan Pecoraro, a stockbroker.

Griffith's challengers for the most part had not involved themselves in extensive exchanges with the councilman. Griffith, however, continued his barrage of press releases on the ills of city he intends to correct.

Mrs. Kozkowski seemed the strongest candidate against Griffith because of her school board activities.

Bertucelli read a prepare statement in rebuttal, saying he has always observed the law. He noted that South San Francisco's cab and scavenger rates are among the lowest in the county.

"I seriously question your motives," said Bertucelli. "The implications are uncalled for since there are only two persons singled out, and past council candiates eliminated."

S&H Moves to Mateo

SAN FRANCISCO — The Sperry & Hutchinson Co. Friday announced that its western regional headquarters will be moved to San Mateo from its present location at 900-940 Dubuque Avenue, (near the Bayshore Freeway) in South San Francisco.

The move is effective March 1, according to John M. Phillips, vice president and western regional manager.

At the same time, Phillips announced that the S&H district offices and redemption center located at the South San Srancisco site would be relocated to the Millbrae area adjacent to the Bayshore Freeway.

"In July of 1969, we began phasing out the warehouse operation in South San Francisco, combining it with our Los Angeles distribution center," explained Phillips.

Popular Symphony Program

By BARBARA BLADEN

There were more unexpected pleasures to last week's San Francisco Symphony program (to be repeated in Los Altos Saturday at Foothill College), than was provided solely by Haydn's "Surprise" Symphony No. 94.

Two popular audience favorites flanked by the less traditional "Chamber Concerto" of Alban Berg produred some restlessness and impatience among regular patrons but Josef Krips consolidated the dissimilar trio into a cohesively fascinating musical experience.

The first and final selections of Haydn's work and Stavinsky's "Firebird" Suite completed in 1910 are both based on folk themes, gathering their impetus from native cultures. And both brim with humor and fantasy, the former more than the latter. Yet Berg's works are not without deviltries as his teacher Arnold Schoenberg reminds us and to whom this work was so earnestly dedicated.

It wasn't so long ago symphonic patrons considered Stravinsky as "modern" and innovative in the avant garde idiom. That's passed into cliche now and there is every indication that Berg's individuality, the fullness and unconstraint of his musical language has not met with communicative response to contemporary ears. Not unless you're already struggling with electronic music and hear Berg's power of inventive surprise in its melodic grandeur. If it hasn't come into public acceptance already, Maestro Azawa's constant search and advancement of the "new" will move the late Twentieth Century composer further back in the ranks.

Dedications came twofold last week, both in Berg's birthday present composition to his friend and teacher and in the San Francisco Symphony's tribute to Howard K. Skinner, Symphony and Opera manager who died last week and will be long remembered and missed for his lifelong work toward a better life through music.

The familiar andante movement of Haydn's mirthful and joyous symphony was presumed familiar in its original folk theme to farmers by 1800. It reoccurs in "The Season" to a minor degree and is typical of his innate pleasure in the use of unexpected ideas that were regarded as musical jokes to amused Eighteenth century audiences. His use of chromatic progressions of almost romantic fervor and the snort and groan of the violincellos and bassons were beautifully interpreted by the orchestra.

While Stravinsky wrote under commission by Diaghilev for Fokine's choreography (he dedicated the work to Rimsky-Korsakov because of the latter's influence on him in differentiation in musical terms between the natural and supernatural elements in the action), the subtle syncopations and spreading ripples of sound suffer from an excess of expressiveness. The composer reworked the music until he was totally disenchanted with it. The effusiveness for which he was embarrassed as time went on followed in the wake of Ballerina Pavlova's refusal to dance the lead because she thought the music complicated and meaningless.

By his own admission, he wrote for a "wastefully large" orchestra but of course this is one of its delights. The few occasions we have to see the full orchestra in all its magnitude is impressive and accounts for the piece's immense popularity with audiences.

THE Listening POST by Lyle Arnold & Alex Florea

In recent years we've all been aware of the dangers of air and water pollution, but the public is just beginning to realize that we also have a sound pollution problem. Perhaps you saw the feature story in a San Francisco paper recently, reporting the noises tape-recorded by a young lady employee of a sound engineering firm, as she traveled around town.

Jackhammers, motorcycles, buses, trucks, planes and even cable cars assault our eardrums with sounds above 90 decibels — a level which can do permanent damage to our delicate hearing nerves. Test show young rock musicians and listeners often have the reduced hearing capacity of 60-year-olds.

So hearing should be tested regularly. We gladly do it without cost or obligation.

Mayors to Study Joint Municipal Services

A proposal of Mayor Nick Gust of Pacifica that the cities of San Mateo County look into a city-county form of government or divide the county into two major cities fell on deaf ears at a meeting of the county's mayors' council Friday.

A suggestion of Wayne McFadden, a candidate for the yet to be formed Foster City Council, that cities provide joint municipal services was referred to a committee for a feasibility study.

Gust, agreeing at the outset of his argument that cities might well oppose his point of view, asked, "Who wants Pacifica?"

"You'll look back in ten or 12 years and say we did have one thing you didn't — 12 miles of beaches."

Suggesting a committee of 11 members, Gust said they could investigate either a city-county type of government or two cities within the county.

"If this comes out negative, what areas can consolidate?" he asked.

"We may not agree on consolidation, but what areas can work together such as police departments? Why not the fire departments? How about the schools? Why not?"

Gust said he felt consolidation could serve taxpayers better together, than with individual cities of 20 or 30 thousand people.

"Pacifica has 37,000 people, but does not have a regional shopping center," Gust asserted. "We can serve San Mateo County."

He suggested hiring of a consulting firm to find "what this county is all about?"

Vice Mayor John Condon of San Mateo cited a suggestion that his city annex Foster City.

"They would have nothing to do with us," he noted.

Mayor Joseph E. Judge of San Carlos admitted he was concerned with the costs of 18 police chiefs and 18 fire chiefs, and suggested a study.

Mayor Bernard J. Lycett of Daly City, however, said he was entirely satisfied with the services offered by local government.

Vice Mayor Robert A. Jones of Belmont said he undertook study several years ago which disclosed that as a city increased to the size of 10,000 persons the per capita governmental cost declined.

But from a population of 200,000, and especially above 500,000, he said cost per person continued to rise. The figures, Jones declared, are on file with the state controllers' office.

Jefferson High Ecology Pupils Lose; Sign OK'd

The Daly City city council went along with recommendations of its Planning Commission last week and approved a controversial rooftop sign.

Much of the controversy over the advertising sign to be mounted atop the Masonic Lodge at 17 Hillcrest Drive was generated by a Jefferson High School ecology class.

Leader of the student group, William Curran, backed his opposition with a petition bearing 600 signatures of area residents and businessmen.

City officials said it would take several days to verify the signatures.

Curran, who teaches the "Wilderness School," had waged a strong protest to the outdoor advertising sign, arguing it was a "monstrosity" that would be seen from anywhere in the city.

He told the council the Planning Commission's recommendation were not a true picture inasmuch as two members were absent, one commissioner was against and only two commissioners voted for the sign during the final meeting on the matter.

In these previous hearings Curran's group presented video taped interviews with both proponents and opponents of the sign.

Lyal Ingersoll, chairman of the Crocker Masonic Temple, explained the organization was sliding deeply into financial trouble and needed the additional revenues Advan Inc. would pay for the space.

In 1968-69 the Temple broke even, but last year it plunged into the red. Taxes alone hit the Masonic order for some $5,500.

The building which houses an assortment of businesses in addition to the Temple was built in 1935 — one of the last structures to be built on the so-called "Top of the Hill."

While agreeing that signs should not be permitted in parks or adjacent to scenic highways, Elton McGraw, owner-operator of the McGraw Pharmacy said the sign was needed.

It would not only stimulate badly needed business on Mission Street but might aid in curbing night crimes by illuminating the area.

Another proponent of the sign was Mission Merchants Association president Vince Merlo.

Merlo later said Curran's school group was turned away by many merchants when the petition was circulated.

Asked what type of advertising would be placed on the sign, Ingersoll said "no beer, wine or whiskey" ads. He was also trying to prohibit advertising of cigarettes.

On a motion made by Councilman Louis J. Papan and seconded by McRobert Stewart the council unanimously approved the permit.

A similar permit filed by Foster & Kleiser for an outdoor bulletin on San Pedro Road at the southern extreme of the Mission Street business district met with no opposition from the students last night.

Suspended Teacher Seeks Pay

Alexander Fraser, suspended as a Jefferson Union High School District teacher January 12, has filed a petition in Superior Court seeking to be paid until his appeal of the suspension is decided.

Fraser, an English instructor at Oceana High School, was suspended without pay after Supt. Edward Morgan charged him with immoral conduct and evident unfitness for service following Fraser's arrest for disorderly conduct December 19 by Pacifica police.

Police reported at the time that Fraser admitted being under the influence of LSD.

State law provides that a teacher accused of immoral conduct may be suspended without pay.

Airport Cab Licensing Is Possible

District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson on Friday said he will present the board of supervisors with an opinion in which he declares the board of supervisors is legally entitled to license so-called "pirate cabs" picking up passengers from the San Francisco International Airport.

Complaints have been received that unlicensed cabs have been picking up fares at the airport, frequently leading to fights between the unlicensed drivers and drivers of the San Francisco Yellow Cab Company, which operates under a franchise granted by the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission.

If supervisors direct him to prepare an ordinance, Sorenson said the county could screen all applicants, including fingerprinting and record checks of individual drivers and setting up fare controls.

Although the county could license San Francisco Yellow Cab drivers Sorenson said the ordinance would recognize licenses granted by San Francisco. He said, however, the license would not affect San Francisco Yellow Cabs picking up passengers at the airport, which is considered legally as private property. The San Francisco cabs could be required to have windshield stickers issued by the county, however.

St. Veronica Women to Meet

Reservations and tickets may be obtained from the Mesdames Wayne Milani, John Boland, Daniel Flynn, Robert Flickinger, Edward Tempone and Thomas Carrigan.

Produce License Suspended

The produce trading license of South City Produce, Inc., 125 Terminal Court, South San Francisco, has been suspended, effective Feb. 17, for failing to pay a reparation award of $1,917 issued under the Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act, the United States Department of Agriculture announces.

Officials of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service said the firm and its officers, directors, and stockholders—Basil Foppiano, Elaine Foppiano, Elva Foppiano, Barry Foppiano and Marjorie Saccomanno—are not entitled to conduct business subject to the PAC Act until the reparation award is paid and the license suspension is lifted. They may not be employed by another PACA licensee without USDA approval.

Officials said a produce shipping firm of Nogales, Ariz., complained that the California firm had failed to pay the agreed purchase price for a truckload of tomatoes and eggplant. The firm was advised of the complaint, but did not answer the charges. USDA's Judicial Officer ordered payment of the full amount claimed due.

Debate Was Good Class for Student

That San Bruno debate last week between Councilman Ted Long and candidate Orville Wycoff served a dual purpose for resident Milton Mitchell.

He said he wasn't certain how he was going to vote Tuesday, and he did need some practice.

So Mitchell, of 150 Hampton Court, plopped himself down on the front row and set up his stenograph machine.

Mitchell is attending court reporting school in San Francisco. "This seemed like a real good practice, "he said. "I'm interested to find out what goes on here. Maybe I won't vote as I had planned."

It's not known whether he changed his mind. He did change the paper in the machine, in order to document more than two hours of debate.

SSF Scholars in B of A Competition

Principal Thomas J. Laffney of South San Francisco High School announced that 15 seniors have been selected to receive awards in the annual Bank of America awards program.

Four students have been awarded plaques for their outstanding scholarship, attainment, sense of civic responsibility, and evidence of leadership.

Plaque winners and fields of study are: Richard Hertzog, science and mathematics; Steven Leitner, fine arts; Lucy Palangian, liberal arts, and Doretta Shimamoto, vocational arts.

Eleven other students have been awarded certificates for their superior performance in specific fields of study: Roland Candee, mathematics; John Kusano, laboratory science; Richard Zuniga, music; Patricia McShane, art; Miihael Duden, drama; Monica Knox, English; Robert Bowen, social science; Rebecca Herbert, foreign languates; Helen Gubbins, home economics, and Bradford Callopy, trades and industrial arts.

Selection of the students was made by the faculty members. The records of the plaque winners are sent to a screening committee. The committee then selects students from various high schools to compete in the West Bay Area Competition for cash awards.

Shelter Creek Name Fails

A planning commission recommendation to name the frontage road at the Shelter Creek project in San Bruno Shelter Creek Lane was defeated in a 3-2 vote on February 22 by councilmen.

Councilman Dick Griffith made the first objection, saying the name was unimaginative. He noted there were several residents of the city who recently died that the street could more appropriately be named after.

Mayor Neil Christal agreed. He suggested a panel of names be submitted to the planning commissioners for review and selection. Councilman Ted Long cast the third objecting vote against the Shelter Creek Lane title.

Fairmont PTA Gives Two Service Awards

Mrs. William (Kay) Ward, secretary at Fairmont School, and Lloyd D. Griffin, Scoutmaster of Troop 137, received P-TA Honorary Service Awards from the Fairmont P-TA.

In presenting the awards, Sharon Affeltranger, president of the Fairmont P-TA, said that although only one award is normally given each year, both Mrs. Ward and Griffin have given so much of themselves to the children of our community, it was decided to make an exception and honor two people this year.

In addition to receiving an Honorary Service pin, a $25 donation has been made in the name of each recipient to a P-TA scholarship fund.

Tom Moore, Boy Scout executive for San Mateo County, started [illegible] gram when he spoke of Griffin's devotion to the youth of our area. He was joined in his tribute to Griffin by Rudy Pacquette, district training chairman, and Marvin Steed, chairman of the Portola District Committee.

Griffin was been active in the Boy Scouts of America since 1965 when he became co-founder of Troop 137. In 1964, he was awarded the Order of Merit Award, the highest award given an adult scouter at the district level. He has served on numerous scouting committees including district camping, leadership training, council training, and cub-adult training. He has also served as chairman of Scouting Council training events.

Prior to his involvement with Scouting, Griffin worked on several committees for the Fairmont Homeowners' Association. He has been a member of the Fairmont P-TA since 1964. Griffin lives in Pacifica with his wife Marguerite and their four children.

On hand to honor Mrs. Ward were Bernard Zarrish, former Fairmont principal, John Logan, Sanchez School principal; Marilyn Krassner, San Andreas principal, Mary Sondberg, [illegible] teaching-assistant principal at Oddstad School, and Daniel March, Fairmont principal.

Speakers pointed out that over the years, in addition to her regular duties, Mrs. Ward has served as a gentle intermediary between the school, parent and child. She has made it a point to know all the children by name and the children in turn know that Mrs. Ward will supply the bandaids and sympathy needed for skinned knees or will replace the lunch money lost on the way to school. Even the youngest kindergarten child knows that Mrs. Ward is their friend in the office.

Mrs. Ward came to the Laguna Salada School District in 1962 at the Pacific Heights School. She moved to Fairmont when that school opened in 1964. Mrs. Ward and her husband William are the parents of three sons and a daughter. They are residents of Daly City.

MRS. BERNARD HYMAN received the Honorary Service Award from the Linda Mar School's P-TA Principal Kenneth Matias presented Mrs. Hyman the award for her varied services to Pacifica and its youth. Among them: Little League, Sea Lions swim team, KQED auction, American Field Service, P-TA and Park, Beach and Recreation Commission, of which she is a member.

George Kristovich, principal of Crestmoor High School, will receive an ecology commemorative from KSFO Radio's Terry McGovern March 9 at 10 a.m.

Lucy Cordova, a student at Crestmoor, heard that KSFO was awarding such commemoratives to those who honestly helped during the recent Bay oil spill crisis, and contacted the station.

Kristovich recognized ... over 300 members of the student body participated in the clean up efforts and Miss Cordova thought presentation of the KSFO commemorative might be a nice way to express appreciation to the principal as well as the students who helped during the crisis.

MEMBERS of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mothers' Club look over clothes they will model in Thursday's fashion show at Breuners, Serramonte.

African exchange student John Asante of Kumasi, Ghana, visited TN last week as part of the American Field Service's exchange week program.

The exchange week program gives AFS student exchangees the opportunity to experience another facet of American life by supplementing their one-year stay in the U.S. with a short visit to another American city with a different environment.

John came to us from Modesto, where he is studying at Thomas Downey High School. Among the subjects he is taking are government, P.E., public speaking, masterpieces, American history and typing. He also writes a column for the school newspaper about African life and customs, and is an active member in the 4-H Club.

One of the main things that John discovered about Americans was how misled they were about his country. Many of the people he spoke to thought Africa was still full of lion-infested jungles and bushmen throwing spears.

"Africa has many modern cities," he explained. "The jungles and primitive tribes which you see in your movies and documentaries are found only in the remote areas."

KUMASI, JOHN'S HOME CITY, has a population of 180,000. The boarding school which he attends back home just recently turned co-ed, much to the delight of the male student body. Twenty-five girls were admitted as an "experiment" two years ago, and John reports that they are still alive and well. (He just received a letter from one of his schoolmates affirming the matter.)

School in Ghana is much stricter, although the subjects are not necessarily harder, and most of them consist of boarding schools similar to the one he attends in Kumasi. English, the official language of Ghana, is a mandatory subject in the schools.

John's school day begins at 5:30 a.m., and classes begin promptly at 7. Students are required are required to study for two hours in the evenings from 7 to 9.

Dormitory curfews and dress regulations are enforced. If a student is more than five minutes late for dinner, he has to forfeit his meal.

The subjects John took at his boarding school last year (which would be equivalent to his junior year in high school) were: English, Maths (a combination of arithmetic, algebra and geometry), West African history, economics, general sciences (biology, chemistry and physics), French, literature, and art.

John plans to attend the University of Ghana, where he will major in economics. After he completes his one year of studying in the United States, he will return to his senior year, since the classes he takes here will not count as credits toward his graduation.

After-school hours can be spent playing sports (football, soccer, and baseball for the girls). American music is very popular there, and students enjoy records of Aretha Franklin, Wilson Pickett, and the Beatles, among others.

John was surprised to find that American teens danced similarly to the teenagers in Ghana. This observation was made at his first American high school dance in Modesto. "I was expecting to find something quite different."

THERE ARE MANY TRIBES in Ghana, although they are now very modernized, and are found not on reservations but in the cities themselves.

Ghana's government is a democratic republic patterned after the British government, and has complete authority over these tribes.

The main function of the tribes is to present tribal festivals during the year. John described his favorite festival called "Akwasidal," which lasts for three to eight days at a time. It consists of feasting, drumming, dancing and paying homage to the tribal king and queen.

The tribal festivals can be compared to Chinese New Year celebrations in San Francisco, and other nationality festivals which take place in the U.S.

John belongs to the Asante tribe, and his native language is "TWI." The similarity between his last name and his tribal name is only a coincidence.

There is now a strong movement by educated Africans to end tribalism in order to create a unified Africa.

John thinks that it would be very hard for one tribe to accept the denomination of another tribe's customs over their own. A possible solution to this would be inter-tribal marriage, which is already occurring in Ghana.

John arrived in Pacifica on Saturday, and attended classes at Terra Nova on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, which happened to fall on Spirit Week.

COMMITTEE chairman Jack Brook, vice chairman Ted Long, Eagle Scout Ken Ward and South San Francisco coordinator Terry Mirri inspect new slide presentation which was used in support of the Boy Scout national SOAR program.

JAN DOWNING of Daly City appears deeply in thought during rehearsals of a scene from the Skyline College production of "A Shot in the Dark." Play will be held in the Skyline Studio Theatre at 8 p.m. March 5, 6, 12 and 13. Miss Downing will appear in the role of Josefa Lantenay, a perky French maid and number one suspect in the mystery comedy. See Story on Page 14.

Ben Franklin Planning an Ecology Day

By DENNIS CAULLEY
Ben Franklin Student

The Franklin Student Council has selected a committee of individuals to promote, plan and organize the upcoming Ecology Day — a day when all students will participate in some sort of activity pertaining to ecology.

Some classes might show movies about the environmental crisis, while other students could go on planned, supervised field trips. Still others might devote the whole day to picking up trash and litter.

All these activities will be done locally and almost all on school grounds. Ideas have already been submitted to the Student Council to place boxes in each class room where the students will lay waste papers. The papers will be given back to the mills.

The money collected from this will be deposited in the school treasury.

THIS YEAR'S RIVALRY match of basketball skills, testing whether the teacher or the student is superior, or more commonly known as the faculty game, is scheduled for the middle of March. The exact date has not yet been set, but at all cost students and Ben Franklin Boosters should be present at the game.

THE FIGHT FALCON decal was created by Robert Anthony. The decals are available in the main office, for 20 cents each. The profit will go to the PTA for the eighth grade graduation dance.

FOR THE INTELLECTUALS and joyous parents, here are the members of this quarter's "A" Honor Roll: EIGHTH GRADE — Audrey Agstin Dennis Caulley Judy Danielson, Keith Galiano, Elena Kim, Carol Marcus, Steve Matsunaga, Maressa Ritzmann, Lauri Strayer, Paul Zawilski.

SEVENTH GRADE — Ramon Balagot, Laura Coppock, John Dab, Michael Grepo, Connie McGuirk, Cheryl Napp, Rick Perez, Barbara Tomlin, Judith Wellisch, Greg Weiner, Meredee Won, Susan Wyatt.

A Constitution Revision Committee at Jefferson

By SUE McALLISTER
Jefferson High Student

Jefferson High School freshmen will hold their first car wash March 6 at the Mobil gas station, Eastmoor and Junipero Serra, Daly City. The price is 99 cents.

The student government class has been active on constitutional revisions, beginning work on a spirit-week consisting of a day for each class and the Friday consisting of a festival with booths and activities, and setting up a student standards committee.

The students for the student standards committee have been selected by the student government class. They are student body president Vita Hillman; senior Jocelyn Smith; junior Ken Haxton; sophomore Mark Molina and freshman Kathy Damato.

Also on the committee are teacher Isaac T. McClanahan, Asst. Principal John Conroy, and teacher Donald B. McCann. They will help revise the rules that have been misunderstood by the student body.

On Thursday, March 11, a donkey basketball game between the Jefferson faculty and students will be held in the gym at 7:30. The profits from the game will benefit the football team fund.

The student body held a co-ed track meet February 25. Although there was a strong wind, a fair number of the student body gave up their lunch to attend.

A girls' swim team has been organized, directed by student teacher Brenda Chin. The girls are now trying out. They meet every day after school at the swimming pool.

Garden Village Program Planned

Garden Village P-TA will award its Honorary Service and Continuing Service awards at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

KNITTERY KNEWS
By H. H. Sherley

KNITTERY KNEWS can't be found in any dictionary; we made it up. If we had written it NITTERY NEWS, it might have pleased the phanatic foneticists. We like it for its mnemonic value; it tells every one that the KNITTERY sells everything for knitting and needlework and we hope the odd spelling will fix the word in your mind.

BUTTONS . . . MORE BUTTONS

We also sell many other things, especially buttons. We have an eclectic selection for it comes from all over the world. This selection has been made by Mrs. Crocker, our store manager and Sue Pinkerton, her assistant, who are as finical about buttons as the Hills Bros. are about coffee. They have an infallible ability to eliminate the commonplace and choose the unique.

If your religious beliefs or taste forbid you to wear buttons, we have other fasteners in lieu of buttons. You should find the button of your choice among the 1800 on open display. We believe this is the largest open display of quality buttons in Northern California.

Elton Paris Prefers Droll Humor Outfits

Receiving one of the biggest rounds of applause in the entire Finocchio revue of female impersonators is lanky Elton Paris, who turns to tennis shoes, a skirt and sweater and sun glasses rather than sequinned gowns and feathered boa fans. Ringsiders quickly respond to the droll humor, and comedy singing and dancing of this veteran performer, who began his career as an entertainer during World War II at USO canteen . . . Andy Ardito, general manager of the elegant Lord Fletcher Inn, Atherton, marks up 12 years of experience in the food industry. When speaking of the restaurant, Ardito stresses the word quality, and compares the Lord Fletcher Inn to any fine dining house in the Bay Area . . . Small, medium or large—whatever size pizza you order at Romano's Italian restaurant in Pacifica's picturesque Rockaway Beach, you can be sure of getting the very finest in flavor and quality. Owner Enrico Romano goes to great lengths in preparing each pizza which passes through his tasting kitchen.

Vince's Eat In Or Take Out

Dapper Vince Licata, owner of Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant, also owns the adjacent Seafood Depot, where Peninsulans may select from an array of choice seafood, poultry items, and assorted packaged goods. This open air market is open seven days a week, Mondays through Saturdays . . . If you're planning to drive to South Lake Tahoe, contact the Park Avenue Tours offices (there are four) and take advantage of the bonus drive-up package. Barney's Club and the South Tahoe Nugget are the Nevada refund headquarters. This offer is good the year 'round . . . There is never a parking problem for dinner patrons at Lew Lehr's popular steak house in San Francisco's Marina district. Ample parking is found in the new neighborhood parking garage around the block from Lehr's, on Pierce Street between Lombard and Chestnut. Low meter rates apply before 6 p.m., and evenings are free.

Ella Fitzgerald–Fairmont

Ella Fitzgerald, one of the truly legendary vocalists of the popular song in the 20th Century, returns to the Fairmont's Venetian Room March 4, through March 24. One point that stands out about the flexibility of an Ella song set is that Ella's musicianship provides that no matter what song from what era she sings, she has that rare quality of always sounding like herself. Ella, who tours with her own rhythm section, The Tommy Flanagan Trio, will be accompanied by the Fairmont's Ernie Heckscher's Band . . . Fosters, in Hillsdale, is now offering a $1 savings on a bucket of Farm-Fried Chicken. Regularly priced at $3.95, the bucket is currently priced at only $2.95 and includes 14 pieces of chicken, 10 rolls and a pint of gravy (ample serving for five). It would pay to rush, though, as this dollar saving offer is valid through Friday, March 5, only . . . Every entree on the J and G restaurant menu is just right, whether it be Veal Scallopini cooked to order in mushroom sauce; Roast Beef, or Chicken Cacciatori. With your meal you can savor either a glass or bottle of California wine.

Impressive Collection of Antiques

In addition to enjoying a superb meal at Scotty Campbells, diners find it enjoyable to look over the impressive collection of antiques at this Redwood City restaurant. Two vibrant sisters, Theresa Urban and Mary Lou Francis, have scores of interesting artifacts and valuable antiques on display for your amusement. Incidentally, a sweet way to finish your dinner at Scotty Campbell's, a restaurant that ranks as one of our very favorites, is to order Maerd Eip (a delicate cheesecake) . . . Lucien Sabella, dynamic guiding force behind San Francisco's famous A. Sabella's, is a man who makes snap decisions. Lucien was recently in the market for a new car. But instead of taking the time to "shop around," he heeded the advice of a friend. One call did the trick — he's currently tooling around San Francisco in a beautiful Jaguar sedan . . . Suntory Royal Coffee is a popular after-dinner drink among celebrities dining at Phil Lehr's Steakery, in downtown San Francisco. It's a warming bracer made with smooth, imported Suntory Royal Whisky.

Considered a house specialty, this outstanding item is served with potatoes a la Fabbro, pasta or a little of both . . . .

RELAXING SERENADERS—Two handsome young guitarists provide appropriate music while guests dine lavishly at Palo Alto's Shirt Tail restaurant. Although having vastly different styles, Bobby Allen (left) and Edmundo Rivan have acquired a considerable following of fans. Bobby, a strapping six-footer who writes most of his own material (he already has two record releases), strolls among diners Fridays through Tuesdays. Edmundo, a dashing South American with a seductive Latin touch, has been compared to Tom Jones, with a pinch of Trini Lopez thrown in. The Shirt Tail's swinging pianobar is where he can be found Wednesdays through Saturdays.

Ed has surrounded himself with a crew of girls to take chicken to-go orders who are pretty as well as efficient. Needless to say, business is good at Chicken Unlimited!

Leaning Tower Specials

An impressive evening-out for your wife or best girl is to treat her to dinner at the South San Francisco Leaning Tower. This splendid restaurant, owned by Joe and Lou Ercoli, leaves little to be desired in Italian fare. Of particular notice is the Chateaubriand and Caesar Salad, a "Special for two," on the extensive dinner menu . . . The Eastman Trio, featuring Teddy Noga, is currently dispensing smooth dance sounds in the Villa Lounge of San Mateo's Villa Hotel. Taking the stage around 9:15 p.m. nightly, Tuesdays through Saturdays, the veteran musicians keep the dance floor in action the remainder of the evening . . . Budget-wise vacationers are packing their bags and slipping away to Reno, "The Biggest Little City in the World," at economical winter rates. The city's attractions are not all concentrated on "Casino Row." Within minutes of the downtown area Reno visitors can tour the world's largest collection of antique and vintage autos, explore the Ponderosa Ranch of "Bonanza" TV fame, fish for trout in the streams and lakes of the High Sierra, ski the slopes at major winter sports areas and look back into history in Virginia City.

Special Group Luncheons

Bruno Fava of Bruno's in downtown San Mateo specializes in group luncheons and banquets. Prices for such gatherings are very modest, and vary according to the number of persons in the party. Groups of 28 or more receive a special discount . . . A money-saving dinner tip for budget conscious diners is the Sunday Special offered by the various restaurants in Hillsdale's Farmers Market. The $1.15 price is in effect all day on Sunday, when each restaurant features a special dinner for this low cost . . . Deiter Lenz, a youthful veteran of the food industry, is the new executive chef at the Belmont Prime Rib. Deiter, a native of Germany, has over 10 years experience in the culinary arts, including extensive schooling in Europe.

Seacliff and Wesley Churches Merging

After nearly two years of study the Seacliff and Wesley United Methodist churches have merged and will be known as the United Methodist Church of Daly City.

The Seackuff congregation moved to Westlake from the San Francisco Mission district in 1959. It was an evangelical United Brethren Church at that time. The congregation traces its origin back to the first work of the Evangelical Church in San Francisco in the early nineteenth century.

Wesley Methodist Church was chartered in December, 1959, under the leadership of the Rev. Dorothy Gleason. It was a new mission for the Methodist Church. Services were held in houses, schools and a community center for seven years before the church was built at 1474 Southgate Avenue. This building will be maintained as the United Methodist Church, while the former Seacliff Church building at 50 Northridge Drive will be sold.

The local merger was made possible after the national merger of the Evangelical United Brethren Church and the Methodist Church in 1968.

There will be special services celebrating the union on Sunday, at 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m., at 1474 Southgate. The public is invited.

Other services are held at the same times each Sunday with Sunday School and nursery care at 9:30.

THE BOARD ROOM of San Mateo County's Supervisors took on this appearance the morning of January 21 after Chairman James Fitzgerald (second from left) called the meeting to discuss law enforcement and rising costs. A decision was reached to make a survey to determine if police services could be improved through some form of consolidation. (Post Photo)

Police Agency Consolidation Could Surface in Two Forms

By BOB PETERSON

CONSOLIDATION of police in San Mateo County [illegible] possibilities. It can be either consolidation of services or consolidation of jurisdictions. Both are possible, in separate and combination form.

Three prominent examples of efforts for comprehensive reorganization of local government in metropolitan areas exist. Two are in the United States, Nashville, Davidson County, Tennessee, and Miami, Dade County, Florida. The third is Toronto, Canada.

Nashville represents a total consolidation of a city and a county into a new government, performing areawide services.

First of a series

It is the most complete metropolitan government in the United States.

Law enforcement is one function. The sheriff's sole responsibility, in addition to serving civil process, is custody and control of metropolitan jail.

A task force report on police issued in 1967 by a presidential commission said, "The experience of Nashville is fortunate. But it seems doubtful that this approach can be applied easily to many metropolitan areas, particularly those with numerous established governments."

The Dade County (Miami) reorganization represents the granting of certain areawide powers to a charter county without affecting the corporate identity of existing municipalities. There are 28 separate governments in the county.

Under the commission-manager form of government, the sheriff is an appointive rather than an elective position. County commissioners have authority to adopt local legislation, and the power to carry on a central metropolitan government.

This includes central police records, crime investigations, communications, jail and training. It also includes setting "reasonable minimum standards" for all governmental units for the performance of any service or function.

"Chances for a merger of all police departments in Dade County are slight," said the 1967 presidential task force report on the police.

Toronto is a federated form of government. The municipality of Metropolitan Toronto provides all services deemed to be metropolitan. Local governments maintain control of all services deemed local.

The Metropolitan Toronto Police Department (MTPD) provides police protection for the entire Toronto metropolitan area. This includes 241 square miles, nearly 2 million people and 13 incorporated municipalities, the city of Toronto, too.

There are no independent policing agencies. The (MTPD) is responsible to a five-man police commission. It is financed by an assessment on the 13 municipalities.

The only ties between the Metropolitan Police Department and the municipality of metropolitan Toronto are on matters of budget, finance and taxation.

There is opposition. The Royal Commission on Metropolitan Toronto, officials of the Township of Scarborough, said, "Our concern is that the police force is too centralized, and there is little association directly with local municipalities."

The 1967 presidential task force report said, "The federated form of government in the Toronto area provides some possible approaches to achieving comprehensive reorganization (in the United States). The success of the consolidated law enforcement program demonstrates that a total approach system is possible."

The California Council on Intergovernmental Relations recently completed the first phase of a long-range effort regarding the assignment of public service responsibilities among various units and levels of government in this state.

Executive Secretary Frank Fargo said the council undertook the project basically because of rising costs in all areas of public service, including law enforcement.

The state council is working with two counties—Santa Barbara and Orange—on projects that are developing information toward improving law enforcement services and justice.

In Orange County, the state council is assisting in a short term project to develop "effectiveness measures" which will indicate how well law enforcement services are satisfying their desired objectives.

The two Orange County cities of Brea and Yorba Linda entered into a Joint-Exercise - Power - Agreement last October to provide a common police force for the two cities.

"Current reports are that it is working quite well," said Fargo. Yorba Linda had been contracting for services from the Orange County Sheriff's Department.

An interesting sidelight is that the two police cars from Brea which provide service to Yorba Linda have magnetic stickers. The stickers identify the cars as Brea vehicles when in that city. They change to Yorba Linda identification when the cars pass into that city.

Fargo noted also that the American Justice Institute has been working with the counties regarding consolidation or improvement of services within these counties.

Squaring Things

SORRY ABOUT THAT — It appears we goofed when we included the City of Pacifica in that article last week about attendance at a San Bruno BART meeting. All four representatives were there: Former Councilman Rick Wallis, George McMahon, John J. Plato, and Don Halverson. The latter, by the way, was appointed to the San Francisco Airport Access Project Citizens' Committee by the County Board of Supervisors.

A LETTER RECEIVED from San Bruno calls me to task for stating that city had no "official" representation at the SFAAP meeting the other night. And, yet, the writer notes, "All San Bruno representatives had not yet been appointed by that meeting . . ." The letter also mentioned the fact that resident Tony Governale was at the meeting. Governale is an appointee of the Board of Supervisors — not the city. The writer failed to also point out that Police Chief Russ Cunningham was in the second row. What we said was: ". . . other cities had only SCATTERED REPRESENTATION." And we'll stick by that statement for now.

IT'S HARD to understand why Daly City is going after property owners who allow weeds to sprout on their lots and are not saying much about that dumping ground next to Mary's Help Hospital. It can be seen from the main thoroughfare (the Freeway and Sullivan Avenue) and is a mess. To questions asked last week on the matter, a city department head sidestepped the issue by noting it was on Mary's Help property. Rubbish is rubbish, the way we see it. And some of the answers are just that — rubbish.

CITY ATTORNEY AL POLONSKY showing Judge Ice around the town last week. The newly appointed judge was much impressed with the Civic Center, and the city over-all. It might behoove some of our county leaders who rarely wander outside the Redwood City area to come take a look-see at the county's second largest city.

SICK CALL — D.C. Councilman Louis J. Papan's son John, at U.C. Medical Center. Checkup. . . .

DID WE EVER SET the record straight on the Meatblock Restaurant? Can't seem to remember. Anyway, after our little encounter with one of the waitresses (Post column titled, "The meat was tender but the waitress was tough") some months ago, we decided to try the Skyline Plaza steakery one more time. It paid off! The broiled chicken was juicy, the Little Woman's steak was as she had ordered it, and (hang in there) the waitress was efficient and very cordial. Nuff said.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK — Why does every tree in Westlake have to get a GI haircut every year? If they would let those trees get by a couple years with only minimum pruning it would break up the "ticky tacky" skyline of that section of Daly City. We'd like to say a few things about those horrid palm trees stuck in front of many homes, but this is supposed to be a family newspaper. Asked about the palm trees, a spokesman for the Westlake Subdivisions Improvement Association informed us that this type tree does not "root up" sidewalks. But neither do other trees if planted correctly, an expert in this field later told us. Those leaves the palm trees shed give road crews no end of headaches. They block sewers faster than most other trees. Which leads to another question: If D.C. trims those trees every fall to keep from blocking sewers with leaves, why don't other cities throughout the world copy this formula?

THOSE JEFF HIGH STUDENTS opposing that rooftop billboard at the D.C. Council session in the name of esthetics and ecology might do well to take a closer look at their own backyard. Cleaning up the environment is a laudable goal. Let's start by picking up litter in the school yard, planting and caring for a few more shrubs and trees, cleaning up grease spots in the parking lot and removing some of the graffiti, including the peace symbols (not that we ain't for peace). Then a move to various vacant lots in the city to help clean up litter. This approach may not pit classroom rhetoric against the city council members elected to make decisions on behalf of the community, but it will give the area a refreshingly clean look and something the ecology-minded students can show for their efforts — blisters.

BEFORE WE DROP the subject, for the time being, our "Flat of the Sword" award this week goes to William Curran, of the Wilderness School at Jefferson High School. After giving a stimulating argument in opposition to that same sign, Curran saw fit to walk up to Councilman Papan while the council was discussing another matter, interrupt the proceedings and challenge Papan (who made the motion to approve the rooftop sign) to come to Jefferson to give his class a lesson in democracy. Curran might do well to sit in on the lesson, if Papan accepts.

Draft Workers Facing Daily Life of Terror

Last week a group of clergymen and educators linked arms and blocked the doorway of a Selective Service office in the City of San Mateo. A spokesman for the group stated that this was a nonviolent act, that arrest was anticipated and that the group intended to raise constitutional issues on trial.

Similar nonviolent confrontations have continued to take place at other Selective Service offices across the land.

One wonders if these men, many representing large groups who may or may not support them, have considered the possible consequences of this action. If they haven't, they should visit the Oakland Federal Building, meet with the people working there, discuss working life and conditions, and carefully consider the chain reaction that can follow. For the story of the Oakland Federal Building is a real chiller, and as far as I know, has not been fully disclosed to this time.

Oakland's Federal Building is a nine story structure located within a block of City Hall. Its normal workday (7:30 to 4:30) capacity is 600 people, 70 per cent of whom are women. Most of the occupants are breadwinners for families scattered about the East Bay.

The building houses a draft board, an induction center and other governmental agencies. It seems a fairly normal working place and was until 1968. That year the structure became a magnet for crowds, and in some cases mobs. The crowds grew and in 1968 more than 5,000 demonstrators assembled in front of the building. In January, 1969, 4,000 gathered about the building for three days.

Since that time the crowds have dwindled, and the daily life at the Federal Building has been largely unnoticed. But ever since January of 1969 small crowds of demonstrators have favored the structure with their attentions. Some groups have been peaceful, others violent. But fears and terror have been constant companions for the 600 who must work inside.

On several occasions demonstrators have handcuffed themselves to the doors. One employee was kidnapped and left in a ravine in the Oakland hills. A fire bomb was thrown against a window on the main floor and burned itself out on its steel shutters. A tear gas bomb was dropped inside the building.

Recently, a real bomb was planted in the mail box and blew up 10 minutes after the night shift left duty. This was no small bomb. It blew in every window on the front of the building from the first to the ninth floor.

When bombs are not smoking or blowing up, the occupants are reminded of the danger of their working place by necessary security measures. All persons entering the building must subject packages and brief cases to search. Twice daily 18 people systematically search the building. Thirty-six man hours are devoted to this process each day.

About 16 times a year the occupants are alerted by a bomb threat. These often originate through phone calls to local papers, radio or TV stations.

This is the lot of 600 Americans who must work in this modern fortress. The molesters often use obscenity, and have on occasion painted filth on the outside walls.

This is not a racial outbreak. Less than 1 per cent of the people in the street come from identifiable minorities. This mini war is being conducted by persons who claim to love peace, and even paint its symbols on the building's walls.

And in the name of peace, Oakland, California maintains an embattled community of persons whose only visible personal failing is that they are earning a living and trying to do a job.

The protected rights of assembly, dissent, criticism, and protest are powerful and influential instruments for change. Token violation of law as a means of testing the constitutionality of specific statutes is a time honored method of presenting justifiable questions to the courts.

But the protest in San Mateo was apparently aimed at larger objectives than law and custom recognize. One kind of law was deliberately violated to protest other laws or to argue social and constitutional issues. The same arguments justifying violation are made by the throwers of bombs.

The difficulty with such acts is found in the erosion of respect for law and in the encouragement given other, less stable people to prove a point by violating law. If anyone is in doubt about the danger of the spread of such disruption, he should talk with one of the 600 people from the Federal Building in Oakland.

Humor and Suspense

'A Shot in the Dark' at Skyline

Humor and suspense are combined in Harry Kurnitz's mystery comedy, "A Shot In The Dark," selected by the Skyline College Theatre for the first production of the Spring semester. The show will be presented in the Studio Theatre on March 5, 6, 12 and 13 at 8 p.m.

"A Shot In The Dark" was presented on Broadway in the early sixties, with a cast that featured William Shatner, Julie Harris and Walter Matthau. A film version of the play, starring Peter Sellers as the inept Paris Magistrate, gave rise to a so-called sequel, "The Pink Panther." Both movies were highly successful, but both took their farcical tone from Sellers' performance as "Inspector Clouseau" rather than from the more restrained, and more human, character of Paul Sevigne, as he is portrayed in the stage version.

Richard Battaglia, of Burlingame, appears as Sevigne in the Skyline production. A graduate of Serra High School, Battaglia was seen last semester as Nipple, in the college presentation of "Little Malcolm and His Struggle Against the Eunuchs."

Cheryl Loyd, of San Bruno, plays the part of Sevigne's wife, Antoinette. A Speech major and Skyline sophomore, Miss Loyd makes her initial appearance in "A Shot In The Dark," after working behind the scenes on several previous productions.

Jan Downing, of Daly City, has been cast as the naive but irrepressable maid, Josefa Lantenay. Miss Downing most recently appeared as Laura Wingfield, in Skyline's "Glass Menagerie." Last spring she was seen as Luisa, in "The Fantasticks."

The wealthy Beaurevers, Dominique and Benjamin, are played by Jill Tobias, of Pacifica, and Declan Murray, of Daly City. Miss Tobias made her Skyline stage debut as Antigone in last semester's production of the Sophoclean tragedy.

Chinese in USA

A letter from a reader asks, "While everyone's going goggled-eyed over minorities, why doesn't someone write about the Chinese in America?"

"Mountain of Gold" by Betty Lee Sung is such a book. Recently, a critic said of it, "Any American who professes a humane interest in Civil Rights has an obligation to read this book."

It is an historical sociological study of the Chinese in the United States in which its author seeks to correct the stereotyped image of a serene and patient people living along the edges of the big city slums.

In it, the author — herself a Chinese-American — describes the problems of assimilation faced by Chinese in "the land of the free" from the restrictions placed on Chinese immigration and naturalization to the problems of existing in today's society. She discusses the life lead by the Chinese family that remains in Chinatown as well as that experienced by the Chinese family transplanted throughout the country.

WITH VIVID TERMS, she outlines the onslaught of America upon such tim honored concepts as the place of father as the undisputed head of the family and the ironclad bonds of marriage. She shows how the American sense of ambition forced whole families from their advocations in such places as laundries and restaurants into business and professions where they have been successful.

In a chapter entitled "The Chinese Family Transplanted," Miss Sung discusses the Americanization of Chinese women against a background of thousands of years of history and tradition. She further illustrates the changes in Chinese family practices for example — a study of 181 families show that when both parents are born in China, the average number of children is 6.2 — when both parents are born in the United States, the average falls to 3.2.

One of the best features of Miss Sung's book is her reference to other books that have been written about Chinese-Americans. These include delightful autobiographies and novels as well as scholarly studies with vast amounts of interesting materials.

In the Appendix of "Mountain of Gold," the author cites many interesting figures. For example, the average family income in 1959 for Chinese-Americans was $6,207 compared to $5,660 for a United States average. Nearly as many Chinese-Americans worked in professional and technical jobs as household workers or in services — despite the stereotype — and nearly as many again were in clerical and kindred positions.

ANYONE WHO MISSES "Mountain of Gold" misses a significant book.

The Chief's Corner

Centralization of Records an Aid

"THE EFFECTIVENESS of a police department is directly related to the quality of the records," O. W. Wilson noted police administrator. Centralized records provides a place where an inquiry need only be directed to one location and not every agency around. For example when each department in Alameda County maintained its own warrant files, the time required for one department to check all of these was 39 minutes.

These files along with all other Bay Area agencies were consolidated, computorized, and now have reduced the time factor to less than two minutes per inquiry.

Operational and analytical data necessary for the function of every agency could be computorized and made available at a long range cost saving factor.

Agencies separately in San Mateo County do not have the funds available to enter computor systems on an individual basis, but with a combined effort could easily do so.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE of savings in this area was with the Los Angeles Police Department who turned their stolen property files over to the State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation. L.A.P.D. reduced its work force by 10 people. CII added two and the other expense involved a monthly lease telephone line to Sacramento. The total savings was fantastic. (San Bruno police dept.)

Sportscripts

We keep reading stories out of Washington's spring camp about how everybody's so surprised that Ted Williams is still hanging around managing the team when, by his own admission, he could be out catching fish. It's his third season and most of the experts figured him for one; except the experts, that is, who said he wouldn't come out of retirement to begin with.

We don't see, however, that it's a mystery. Had the Senators won the pennant last year — or if they had at least not finished worse off than they had during Williams' freshman year at the helm — we believe Williams might have quit. But Williams hates losing, and we think he'll stay until he does something very positive with the Senators.

We can in fact recall only one story in all the years we've been hearing stories of Williams' incredible competitive spirit, of Williams ever having quit in the face of competition, and that story just a few weeks ago. The Woman's Lib should love it.

It was told us by Laura Malish, a San Jose lady who manages the Santa Clara County Laurels, a lady's softball team. When Miss Malish, a former All World catcher, was living and playing softball in Stratford, Conn., several years ago, she became involved in a benefit game for JACKIE, the organization which serves children with cancer, and with which Williams is so [illegible] involved.

As a special pre-game attraction to the Boston event, Williams had consented to give a batting exhibition against a girl softball pitcher. What Ted didn't know was that his opponent, Joanie Joyce, was the best female softball pitcher in the country. Some, in fact, said she was one of the best softball pitchers in the country, regardless of sex. Or if Williams did know of her reputation, he was apparently disdainful of it.

WE DON'T KNOW HOW FAMILIAR you are with softball, but a good softball pitcher—boy or girl—can propel the ball at 100 mph. And that at a distance, in girls' softball, of only 40 feet, as compared to baseball's 60 feet, six inches. When one considers that the great Bob Feller, for example, was clocked at something like 92-93 mph in his prime, one might get the idea of what Williams was up against that night. That kind of speed at that distance, at night, and Joanie could also throw curves and change-ups.

Joanie tossed Williams 20 pitches and he missed every one of them. Didn't even foul one.

"His temper sure came up in a hurry," recalls Laura. "He got real mad, and then frustrated, and finally quit." And in front of thousands of people.

Williams, it seems, made the mistake that all baseball players make when they delve into softball. They think it's the same game, especially the hitting part, and they go for the fences because they figure they have to hit that big ball harder than ever to make it to any place.

Softball is a humbling game for any baseball player. We'll never forget the summer that virtually our entire Mission High School baseball team, which had come dangerously close to winning the city title that year, entered a team in a softball league, en masse.

SEVERAL OF OUR NUMBER had made All City, others were to sign professional contracts. We were real hotshots. We scouted a league which seemed replete with pot-bellied old men, and positive we would sweep through the league, we didn't even work out with softballs until the pre-game infield practice for our first game. To make a frustrating story short, we won only one game that summer, and that when the other team didn't show. They had undoubtedly heard of our reputation, but hadn't seen us play.

Not one of our big swingers, the long ball hitters, hit over .200. Yours truly, who hit perhaps the shortest ball in the AAA in those days, went up to the plate and swung at softballs the way we had swung at hard balls all our life — barely, and with tenderness. We were the terror of the league, hitting — modesty almost forbids us to tell — a cool .500. Naturally, yours truly wanted to play another season, but could convince none of his free swinging buddies to play with him, and that was the end of our softball career.

For one fleeting summer there was a Camelot. We were better than Ted Williams.

WHILE WE'RE STILL on baseball stories, we're going to beat every other columnist to the punch with our early season favorite baseball story of the year. Naturally, it concerns Walter Mails.

One time, when Walter was baseball coach at Moraga, he and football coach Clipper Smith attended a ladies' luncheon and each gave his most classic talk.

The ladies gave them both a standing ovation, and at the conclusion of the festivities, the president of the club came forward, thanked the gentlemen for their offerings, and handed Walter a $5 check for services rendered.

"Oh," replied Walter coyly, "there's no need for that, madame. Clipper and I enjoyed entertaining you ladies this afternoon. Our pleasure in a pleasant afternoon well spent will be sufficient payment."

The club president literally jumped for joy, clapped her hands, and then shouted excitedly into the microphone, "Oh ladies, ladies, I have such wonderful news. Mr. Mails and Mr. Smith have so generously declined to take our check. Isn't that

WHS Loses Regional Class

Region I of the Central Coast Section is sending its most potent representative to this week's basketball finals at Stanford University, but that's little consolation to the highly partisan fans who watched Peninsula nopefuls go down to defeat last Friday and Saturday.

Archbishop Mitty's mutlipurpose Monarchs will carry Region I's colors into the two-day championship finale after the West Catholic Athletic League champions took care of both Westmoor and Hillsdale High Schools in the regionals at College of San Mateo.

In a surprise-filled contest, Hillsdale's stuttering, yet tenacious Knights, lost to a more poised Monarch attack, 58-52. As it was Friday night against Westmoor, Mitty proved too well balanced up front, too deadly on long range jumpers and too accurate when placed at the free throw line.

Hillsdale surprised everyone by employing a zone defense throughout (and when's the last time you saw the Knights forego their man-to-man tactics?).

"We had seen Mitty four times this year and all four times their opponent played a zone against them," said Knight Coach Homer Zugelder. "We knew, therefore, what they would do against a zone. We didn't know anything about their offense against a man-to-man."

Skyline Loses Its Cage Finale

The Skyline College basketball team can look back on the just concluded season with a certain amount of satisfaction.

That is if they overlook its final game of the season.

Coach Walt Rilliet's cagers, before the largest home crowd of the season Saturday night, fell short in their bid for a second upset over Contra Costa by bowing to the visiting Comets, 101-97.

"Our inability to make our free throws cost us a chance at winning the game," Rilliet noted.

The loss closed out Skyline's season as the Trojans finished with a 7-7 Camino Norte Conference mark and a 17-10 overall record.

The fast-breaking Comets were off to a quick start and Skyline trailed by as many as 17 points during the first half. However, the Trojans scored a school record 62 points in the second half and made a game of it.

A tip-in by Bob Baldassaroni with 42 seconds left made it, 97-95, Contra Costa. However, quick buckets by Jimmy Ellison and Lonnie Jones spirited the visitors out to a 101-95 lead with just seconds left. Matt Kriletich put the capper on the scoring by hitting a 16-foot jumper for Skyline.

Kriletich ended up with 28 points, while teammate Paul Reynolds scored 24 points, and pulled down 31 rebounds.

WHS Wins NPL Championship

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

Westmoor High School's Rams made it official Wednesday by winning the North Peninsula League basketball championship with an easy romp over cellar-dwelling Half Moon Bay.

In other NPL scores that Terra Nova rallied to beat Oceana, 53-41, El Camino made it a .500 year upending Serramonte, 62-54, and Jefferson downed South San Francisco, 67-61.

Forward Jeff Orlich pushed through 27 points inside and guard Brad Quanstrom added 22 more outside as the Rams eased to the conference title. Up by nine throughout the first half, the Rams were content to play run-and-shoot with the Cougars in a virtual re-match of the first round game between the two when both teams totaled 187 points in 32 minutes.

After leading most of the third quarter the Oceana Sharks hit a horrendous cold spell in the fourth period, scoring just three points, and Terra Nova pulled away for a fourth-place finish.

Guard Bob Petty scored six straight points as the Tigers went from a 40-39 lead to a 46-39 advantage in just one minute as the TN press rattled Oceana into numerous ballhandling mistakes.

The inside scoring of center Ken Smith was the difference as Jeff edged South City. Maintaining a nine-point lead most of the way, the Indians nevertheless appeared in trouble when Smith went to the bench with four fouls early in the third period. Jeff led then, 44-35, but two technical fouls on Jeff coach Mic Kelly, a bucket off the possession, a three-point play off a steal and a free throw all of a sudden put SSF back in the game.

Smith re-entered in the fourth period, though, and scooped through five quick points to boost the Indians back to a comfortable margin. Herbo Eastman took game honors for Jeff with 17.

wonderful? Now we can save it and apply it to next year's budget, and get better speakers."

GEORGE LEVINE, whom we met at the Willie Ritchie birthday party recently (he fought out of Los Angeles and was boxing four-rounders in San Francisco in 1916) is helping to promote a dinner for former flyweight and featherweight champion of the world Fidel La Barba in Los Angeles on April 24.

Levine estimates that about 500 fight people will be there, and says that it will be a great evening for any fight buff. If you're interested in further information on the dinner, write to: George Levine, 1159 Northwestern Avenue, Los Angeles 90029.

La Barba is one of boxing's most fascinating stories. New York born but California raised, he won the American flyweight title at age 19, the world flyweight championship at 21, vacated the title at 22 to attend Stanford and major in journalism. He "came back" 11 months later and eventually went on to fight for but lose the world's featherweight title at 25. He finally quit for real at age 27, became a sportswriter, joined the army at the outset of World War II, eventually ended up in Hollywood as a screenwriter, and now, at 65, is out of work and out of luck.

Bruno Park Fund Offer Is Received

San Bruno has received an offer of funds for Grundy Park development from Frances Brown of 1160 Murchison Drive in Millbrae.

Roy Davis, park suprintendent, received the offer from the former San Bruno residents memorializing the late son Murray Brown.

San Bruno Park and Recreattion Commissioner Pauline Sandkulla was appointed to represent the Commission on the Airport Access Project Citizens Committee.

A delegation from Pacific Heights was assured last week that the Pacific Heights Park landscaping project work would be underway in April.

The Carlton Corners Association proposed to donate $500 for playground equipment.

The Commission requested that adults volunteer to supervise the Skyline Teen Center on Friday nights from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.

A 400 Grundy Park improvement program was presented to the Commission, including tennis courts, basketball court, regrading and turf replacement and other landscaping.

REC MEETING

The Daly City Recreation Commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the council chambers of City Hall.

Third Place Finish for CSM Matman

A third place finish by Buzz Stewart was College of San Mateo's top performance in the Golden Gate Conference wrestling tournament at San Jose City College.

The tourney climaxed the league season by crowning individual champions in the ten weight divisions and league chamion Diablo Valley edged Chabot for the team title, 94-92. CSM, ranked 16th in the state, finished fifth in scoring behind four other state ranked teams.

Besides 158 pounder Stewart, Bulldog coach Jim Jacques cited Curtis Coats at 150 pounds and heavyweight Steve Boschetti for doing good jobs. Both men were leading foes before losing close decisions at the end of their matches.

Jacques is hopeful the breaks will fall for his Bulldogs this Saturday as they enter a full team in the North Section Regional qualifying tournament in which the top four finishers in each weight class advance to the state tourney at El Camino March 12-13.

D.C. Man Takes Life

A Daly City man despondent over poor business shot himself in the head with a .38 caliber revolver in the living room of his apartment Friday.

Warren B. Porter, 57, an auto trimmer, was pronounced dead on arrival at Mary's Help Hospital about 8:15 p.m.

The victim was sitting in his home at 121 Park Plaza Drive when his wife, in another room, heard a shot.

Deputy county coroner Ron [illegible] ded the death a suicide.

Kirk Eugene Murchie, 27, a postman, took his own life in an East Palo Alto apartment Thursday by shooting himself in the head with a small calibre revolver, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Sheriff's Sgt. Paul Hale reported he found Murchie lying on his side with his finger still inside the trigger guard of his revolver after being called by another occupant of the apartment, Ilsa Pole.

Miss Pole and three other occupants of the apartment at 15 Newell Road reported Murchie has been depressed "about everything in general."

Miss Pole reported she and Murchie had been playing cards, and Murchie took three sleeping tablets of another occupant of the apartment before going into the bedroom. She said she played some records and about five minutes later heard a shot from the bedroom.

Murchie was pronounced dead on arrival at the Stanford Medical Center.

Youth From Westside to Snow Camp

Linda McLean, Debbie Parker, Lynn Arvidson and George Bradley of Westside Baptist Church will attend the March 5-7 Northern California Junior High Snow Camp at Hume Lake.

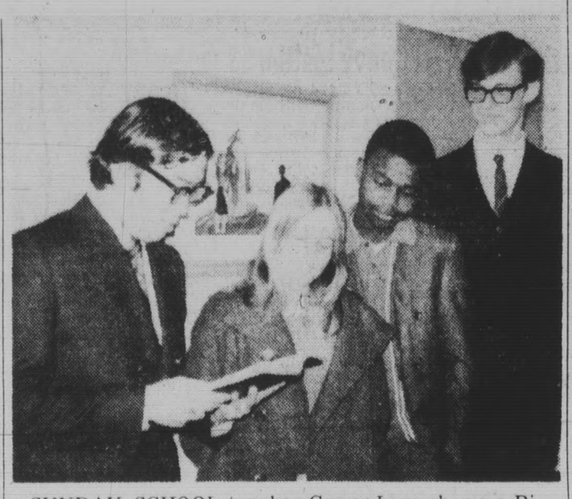

At the 10:55 a.m., March 7, worship hour at Westside, the ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed. Also at this service the right hand of church fellowship will be extended to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Smith and Ronald, Alan, Kenneth, and Gary Smith; Elmore Parker and Debbie Parker.

Special music for this service will be a mixed quarter. Mrs. Tamara Schmidt will play the organ, and the adult choir also will sing.

Pastor David Donnelly will speak on the topic, "Every Mouth Stopped."

During the adult worship hour, a children's church is conducted for boys and girls, four through seven years of age.

At 6 p.m. four youth groups meet: Eager Beavers for primary age children; Astronauts for junior age; junior high and senior high CYF. Also at this hour Pastor Donnelly will be conducting a pastor's class for youth and adults.

SUNDAY SCHOOL teacher Gregg Lum shows a Bible passage to Tracee Luther, Eric Haynes and co-teacher James Tweedie at Broadmoor Presbyterian Church junior high class session.

Broadmoor Presbyterian Has Junior High Class

A junior high class meets weekly at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church's Sunday school.

Gregg Lum and James Tweedie are co-teachers of the 9:30 a.m. Sunday class in which 36 seventh and eighth graders are enrolled.

Rodger Mattson is the assistant teacher.

Class members also take monthly outings and participate in varied projects.

A high school class also meets at 9:30 a.m. with teachers Dawn Klevesahl, Jack Redston and coordinator Dave Miller.

The high school Presbyterian Youth (UPY) holds meetings and activities on Tuesday evenings.

'Troubador of Lord' to Talk at Services

George Matthews, known as "The Troubador of the Lord," will preach at both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship services Sunday at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 87th Street, Daly City.

He will present the Gospel message in word and song as a lyric sermon. The solos will be "Come to Me, Saviour," "If with All Your Hearts," "In Quietness and Confidence," "O Lord, Most Holy," "O How Lovely is Thy World," and "Let Us Break Bread Together on Our Knees."

The church's organist, Carl Eagle, will be accompanist. The Junior Choir of the church will sing at 9:30, the Adult Choir at 11 and a solo will be sung at both services by Dorothy Spratt.

Matthews is the son of a North Carolina school principal. He studied at the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, N.Y., in preparation for a concert nd operatic career. He won first prize in National Auditions over 300 contestants. But a hospital experience changed the course of his life.

The Rev. Herbert Tweedie, local pastor, has invited the public.

Joint Lenten Sermon Set in South SF

Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church and First Lutheran Church will jointly hear the second Lenten sermon on "Mystical Shadows of the Cross," at Our Redeemer's, El Camino and Southwood, March 3, at 8 p.m., with the Rev. Bill Willms of Our Redeemer's officiating.

The Rev. Trenton Ferro, of First Lutheran will speak on "How a Great Leader Prayed for His People."

Lent is a period of 40 days (not including Sundays) before Easter in which the Christian gives special thought to the suffering and death of Our Saviour, Jesus Christ.

Such meditation causes us to realize more clearly our creatureliness and sinfullness which brought about such suffering on the part of Our Lord. We also see more clearly the tremendous love of God which prompted this suffering on the part of Jesus so that there is salvation offered to us who are sinners.

Continuing an examination of "The Lord's Prayer," Our Redeemer's will be addressed by the sermon theme, "Your Name Be Honored," on Sunday.

Special music will be provided by the congregation's Youth Choir, under the direction of Mrs. William Hartre.

Our Redeemer's Church is located at the corner of El Camino Real and wsouthwood Drive, Sunday school is at 9:15 a.m., and the morning worship is at 10:30.

3 Camino Seniors Win

Three seniors at El Camino High School have been selected to represent the school in the 1971 Bank of America Achievement Awards program, Principal Robert Keropian said.

Selected by faculty members, the top winners will receive trophies and have the opportunity to compete for cash awards ranging up to $1,000. The trophy winners and the study field in which they were chosen are Brent Whiteley, science and mathematics; Robin Fross, liberal arts; and William Aron, fine arts. Ten other students were cited for their superior performance in specific fields of study and will receive certificates of merit. These names will be disclosed at an Awards Assembly in June.

S.S.F. Beauty Pageant Set

Deadline for entries in the Miss South San Francisco contest, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, has been set for March 5, according to Pageant General Chairman Remi J. Muyllaret.

The city's official beauty pageant has already attracted 10 contestants for the May 22 contest at South San Francisco High School auditorium.

Prizes will include $1,000 in scholarships, plus all expense air trips and other gifts to be awarded to selected participants.

Applications for the contest are available at the Chamber of Commerce office, Grand and Maynolia Avenues. Contestants must be single and between 17 and 25 years of age.

Second Outdoor Mass at Hospital

A mass is scheduled to be held outside Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City on Sunday, March 14, starting at 2 p.m. to again publicize needs for a health clinic in "old" Daly City.

Last month a pray-in was staged around the hospital's flagpole by some 100 persons—mostly Chicanos — to point up demands that a clinic for the area's poor be established.

The mass is scheduled on the eve of the feast day of St. Louise of Marillac, patron saint of social workers and co-founder of the Daughters of Charity, the order of nuns operating Mary's Help Hospital.

Shelley Fernandez, spokesman for the group, said support for the movement would come from Cesar Chavez' farm workers and other interested groups.

Miss Fernandez invited the community-at-large to attend the mass which will ask St. Louise to assist in the realization of the clinic.

Legal steps had been previously proposed by members of Miss Fernandez' group. However the decision to move in this direction was postponed until March 15, the actual feast day of St. Louise.

A special panel discussion between Miss Fernandez and Mrs. Madge Bradstreet, local chairman of the NAACP, and hospital administrator Rex Chase and Sister Eileen was set for yesterday at Hope Lutheran Church at 8 p.m.

John Delury was moderator of the program, sponsored by the Awareness Action group.

Hospital officials have called the pray-in and the upcoming mass "premature" and insist studies are now under way to determine the feasibility of such a clinic in east Daly City.

Chase said master planners have been working in the community since last December "trying to identify and characterize the health needs of the community."

A 'Man' Topic

Man's true nature will be explored at area Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon on "Man" include this verse from the first chapter of Genesis: "God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them."
